THE DAILY AVALANCHE.

The White Man's Platform

I hold that this Government was made on the white basis, by white men, for the benefit of white men and their posterity forever, and should be administered by white men, and none others. I do not believe that the Almighty made the negro capable of self government.—Stephen A. Douglas.

Hear President LINCOLN in reply:

I AM NOT, NOR EVER HAVE BEEN, IN FAVOR OF MAKING VOTERS OR JURORS OF NEGROES nor of qualifying them to hold office, nor intermarrying them with white people, and I will say, in addition to this, that there is a PHYSICAL DIFFERENCE between the white and black race, which, I believe, will forever forbid the two races living together on terms of social and political equality—and, inasmuch as they cannot so live, while they do remain together, there must be a position of superior and inferior, and I, as much as any other man, am in favor of having the SUPERIOR POSITION ASSIGNED TO THE WHITE RACE.

Two years before the death of DANIEL WEBSTER he said:

"IF THESE IMPERTINENT Fanatics and Abolitionists ever get the power into their own hands, they will override the Constitution, set the Supreme Court at defiance change and make Laws to suit themselves, lay violent hands on those who differ with them in opinion or dare question their fidelity; and finally, bankrupt the country and deluge it with blood."

On September 2, 1843, twenty-five years ago, HENRY CLAY said:

The agitation of the question in the free States will first destroy all harmony, and finally lead to disunion—perpetual war—the extinction of the African race—ultimate military despotism. But the great aim and object of your tract should be to arouse the laboring classes of the free States against Abolition. Depict the consequences to them of immediate emancipation. The slaves being free, would be dispersed throughout the Union; they would enter into competition with the free labor; with the American, the Irish, the German; reduce his wages, be confounded with him, and affect his moral and social standing. And as the ultras go both for Abolition and amalgamation, show that their object is to unite in marriage the laboring white man and the laboring black woman, to reduce the white laboring man to the despised and degraded condition of the black man. I would show their opposition to Colonization. Show its humane, religious and patriotic aim. That they are to separate those whom God had separated. Why do the Abolitionists oppose Colonization? To keep and amalgamate together the two races, in violation of God's will, and to keep the blacks here that they may interfere with, degrade and debase the laboring whites. Show that the British Government is co-operating with the Abolitionists, for the purpose of dissolving the Union, etc. You can make a powerful article, that will be felt in every extremity of the Union. I am perfectly satisfied it will do great good. Let me hear from you on this subject.

The Every Afternoon newspaper for twenty-three days lost over $12,000.

Thirty-five barges of coal are coming down the Cumberland river.

Those who have an inside view of the Radical camps declare Johnson cannot receive over five Radical votes.

There are over two hundred illicit distilleries in Middle Tennessee, and East Tennessee swarms with them.

John Happy's White Crook has been running at the Academy of Music in Louisville two weeks, with great success.

James Hamill, champion oarsman, and Henry Coulter, have signed articles of agreement to row for the championship at Philadelphia, June 18th, for $1,000 a side.

Thirty five of the "trooly loil," arrested in the mountains for too much disloyal whisky, reached Nashville Sunday, under guard.

Macon, Georgia, was damaged ten thousand dollars by the storm last week. The various railroads in the State were greatly damaged.

An advertisement in a country paper says: "Call at the postoffice for groceries." Capital idea, provided the groceries have postage prepaid.

A bogus Sergeant Bates has been traveling through North Carolina with a flag, stick and cow's horn, and has made some capital dinners.

The Baptist Convention of the State of Georgia will meet with the First Baptist Church, Greene street, Augusta, on Friday morning, the 24th instant.

General John B. Gordon, who was a Lieutenant General in the Confederate army, and is the Democratic candidate for Governor of Georgia, has been declared eligible to the office by General Meade.

Speaking of starving Indians, Prentice says: "The question is whether we shall let them starve or feed and keep them alive until we shall be under the necessity of shooting them."

The baby woman has gone to Jeffersonvill, Indiana, on exhibition. A sentimental reporter says: "She is not three years old, yet as perfectly developed as a maid of sweet sixteen." "'nuff ced;" she has a waterfall and a sweetheart.

On the 13th of May Rev. Robert A. Abell, the oldest Catholic clergyman in Kentucky, will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of his ordination as a priest. The celebration will take place at St. Thomas' Theological Seminary, near Bardstown.

A wild, ferocious panther was killed in the streets of Mobile, last Thursday, after an exciting chase. He measured six feet ten inches in length. The animal was probably driven from the swamps by the storm. Some man made a good thing by showing the dead varmint at 25c. a head.

Brownlow, the editor of the Knoxville Whig, and also one of our Governors, is tempering down greatly. He says very gently, in his last issue: "This paper will constantly, perseveringly and boldly fight both Democracy and Republicanism, and insist on the punishment of offenders in HELL, as alone adequate to the deserts of the villainous leaders of both these parties!"

Louisville is inundated with a cold water revival. The Good Templars are drowning out many noted topers. If they can keep "Yuba Dam," "Faxy" and "G. Washington Bricks" under water as long as Jonah sucked a straw in the whale's belly, without killing them, it will prove that the Templars are a good institution and that the day of miracles has not passed away.

An escaped Confederate prisoner married in St. Louis in 1863, and when the war closed returned and reported that he had been a prisoner all the time. He married two months ago, near Nashville, to an accomplished lady, and the other day wife No. 1, attended by a big brother from the Sucker State, turned up, to the intense surprise of wife No. 2.

The Atlantic Opinion (Radical) says: "We understand that some of Mr. Ashburn's family are under the impression that his assasins were in the interest of a well known Radical in Columbus, who wanted the nomination to the Legislature, but whom Mr. Ashburn defeated, giving as a reason therefor that the aspirant 'had not brains enough to fill the position he sought.'"

The funeral of Mrs. John Dicker, burned to death in the recent railroad accident on the Erie railway, took place in Buffalo Saturday, and was attended by a large concourse of citizens. The remains were among those of which nothing but charred bones were found, and four days elapsed before they were identified. Identification was finally established by a trunk key, breastpin and earrings.

NEW ORLEANS.

Races, Elections, Operas, Storms, Amusements, etc., etc.

ST. CHARLES HOTEL,
NEW ORLEANS, April 19, 1868.

EDITORS AVALANCHE: During the past week the weather has been beyond all precedent of the most adverse character. The races, which would otherwise have been the great amusement of the season, suffered vastly in consequence. The Metairie track is unequaled for excellent management. It is in splendid repair, and was placed in an excellent condition for the spring meeting, but the rains came and ruined the sport; making the track so muddy and heavy that the horses could not do any thing on it. The attendance was good during the entire season. Yesterday's (Saturday) races were for the Congress stake and whip; entries, Privateer, by the Metairie Club, and Agnes Donovan, by the Memphis Association. The mare has fine mettle, splendid action, and did some game work through the mud, but it was evident from the first jump that she would lose, and thus it proved. She has done some exceedingly fine racing during the week, and if the hard work of the past week has not strained her, she will make a good reputation. On a good, dry track, she is a very fine timer; and I hope will make some remarkable speed on the Memphis course. Her game style has made her innumerable friends here.

The truly peerless Pargoud left this port last night with about twenty-five horses that have been on the Metairie course during the week past. Her cabins were filled to the last available mattress with a fine list of people. Among those registered I note the names of John Donovan, who has been doing the races; Colonel M. W. Cluskey, your late confrere; Wm. M. Comor, correspondent of Turf Journal; Captain Brady, the backer of Agnes Donovan; Mr. Myers, Mr. Filbert, and Capt. Sam. Shock. There are others of the Bluff City aboard, but I did not get their names in time for this letter. The Pargoud goes into the Memphis trade with more advantages than any steamer that ever ran in the trade. She is swift and staunch, with a hull that will bear any sort of usage, the most superb cabin appointments on the river, and a set of officers whose names guarantee superior excellence in their respective lines of duty. In the office is Mr. George Williams, and no one knows his duty better. Captain Marsh Miller, of world wide notoriety, is in the pilot house, and if his name does not draw patronage to this splendid steamer, then there is no virtue in a good name. I found Captain Hukill, the veteran commissiarat, in charge of the good things, and as his name is synonomous with fat living, so, nous verrons. I hope the good people of Memphis will sustain this complete boat in the enterprise she has so generously entered into.

The elections held in this State during the past two days (17th and 18th) passed off without any disturbances. This happy result is entirely due to the forethought and wise precautions provided by General Buchanan. He disposed the forces under his command in such a manner that they could promptly suppress any riotous demonstrations in any quarter. I have never seen an election pass by so smoothly and quietly. Innumerable attempts at fraud were detected, and some two hundred shades were registered in the charity prison for illegal swearing, voting, etc. There is no doubt that an immense number of fraudulent votes were cast, as the carpet-baggers and God-forsaken were very busy uttering forged registration papers, and freely using niggers from other sections. Notwithstanding this, however, the impression prevails here that the Constitution is defeated and the Warmoth ticket beaten. This is "a consummation most devoutly to be wished for," and has our earnest prayers for its verification.

The opera of L'Africanne was presented at the French Opera House last night. An immense audience was present to see the magnificent spectacle and hear the wonderful music. The superb appointment, decorations and equipments used in the piece, are incomparably fine exhibitions of mechanical skill and genius. The caste comprised names that will long be remembered in the records of musical celebrities. Madame Audibert, with her unequalled voice, sustained the role of Selika in a manner that defied criticism. The dramatic effects were also wonderful masterpieces of artistic and histrionic skill. The mechanical effects were very beautiful, and received the most enthusiastic applause. The machinist was entitled to a flattering call before the curtain. The ship was a wonderful piece of mechanism, and the amie en scene generally an indescribably grand tableaux vivante. The Mandavilla tree in the last act was a grand success. The opera was placed on this stage with more eclat than ever attended its presentation before on this continent. As it marked a special era in this line of amusement, and was the first appearance in this city, I note these particulars more specially than otherwise.

A musical curiosity has appeared here. This wonderful Chilian girl violinist—Filomena—is about eighteen years old. She hols her violin as a man does, and handles her bow with all the skill and grace of a master. She plays a light violin, but evokes from the instrument the most extraordinary effects ever heard from the hands of an artist. Her memory is extraordinary, as she already has an olio of nearly six hundred pieces, the different executions of which is well known among musicians. Her "Carnival of Venice" cannot be surpassed. That your musical readers may form an idea of her wonderful skill, I need only tell them that she plays the most difficult passages of "Trovatore" on the G string. She has created a furore here in musicial circles.

The storms of the past week has done a great deal of damage to roads, fields, gardens, etc. The gales and thunderstorms on the lake and gulf did considerable damage to shipping, but no disasters of consequence have been reported.

Business is very dull, except in produce and grain shipping. The Western traffic has assumed a practicable shape in the way of rapid transportation to and through this port. New Orleans may hope for some resuscitation and abiding benefits from cultivating the best system of commercial transportation and business.

There are very few strangers in the city. The streets are not lively; the hotels exhibit signs of abandonment. Mr. C. C. Clay and wife and Miss N. L. Cherry are at the St. Charles. This princely house maintains its usual list, and keeps up its reputation for excellence and splendid management. It is being prepared for the summer season, and will be thronged with a large number of boarders. It is probable it will remain open during the season on the hotel principle.

Amusements are dull. Ames' circus and menagerie are running a season of a week ere it goes on a summer tour. It is doing a fine business. The niggers are especially the patrons of the circus here, so there are large audiences of the shades.

COUSIN NOURMA.

The Washington correspondent of Thurlow Weed's paper, the New York Commercial, says that Mr. Curtis' argument, "enchained the attention of those on the floor and those in the galleries, but," he adds, "I do not believe that it had the slightest effect on a single Senator. Each one sitting in judgment has already made up his mind how he will vote, viewing impeachment as or as not a political necessity. The deposition of Andrew Johnson and the installation of B. F. Wade is but a question of time, nor is the time very far distant."

Cincinnati has a drinking saloon for every thirteen inhabitants.

A brutal murder was committed a couple of days since at Lynnes' Station, near Chattanooga. The victim was Jefferson Good, and when last seen alive was in company with one of the convicts recently released from the penitentiary.

NATIONAL TELEGRAPH.

THE NATIONAL

TELEGRAPH COMPANY

A NEW enterprise, to be known as the National Telegraph Company, has been organized with valuable franchises conferred by a recent act of Congress for the purpose of establishing Trunk Lines of Telegraphs on all the principal railroads and mail routes in the United States. The Stock is to be issued upon the same principle as that of the Merchant's Union Express Company, which recently commenced operations. The design is to interest the entire business community in the enterprise. This is done, not so much to dispose of the stock as it is to secure the business of the country which the lines pass.

THE CAPITAL IS TO BE

in 100,000 shares of the par value of

$100 PER SHARE

But the actual amount to be paid in cash is

$35 PER SHARE

and this amount is to be paid as follows: One per cent. of the par at the time of subscribing, and no more until the entire capital has been subscribed, and then on calls to be made by the Board of Directors; installments not to exceed five per cent. per month. When thirty-five per cent of the par value of the shares has been paid, certificates of stock will be issued. This will give the Company a paid up

CASH CAPITAL OF $3,500,000

Which will be sufficient to duplicate lines to all or nearly all the paying points reached by the present monopoly.

The present Telegraph Companies throughout the country have been consolidated into one huge monopoly, and are now earning over SIX MILLIONS OF DOLLARS per year, or over one hundred per cent. on the actual cost of their lines their present capital having been watered over ONE THOUSAND per cent.

THE NATIONAL TELEGRAPH COMPANY have a recognition from the United States Government of the importance of their enterprise, with a grant of the most valuable franchises ever conferred upon a telegraph company. No competing line has ever had the right now granted by Congress to this company to construct and operate lines over every RAILROAD and MAIL ROUTE in the United States. The position of this Company differs from that of any company ever before organized. The question of the RIGHT OF WAY IS FOREVER SETTLED.

The Stockholders of this Company cannot be sold out or TRANSFERRED to any other Company. The act of Congress under which this Company has been organized prohibits any transfer of the franchise granted.

CALLS---HOW TO BE MADE

One per cent of the Stock will be required on subscribing, and subsequent calls, not to exceed five per cent per month, will be made by the Board of Directors, from time to time, as may be necessary, to supply funds to construct and equip the lines; but no calls will be made after the one per cent. is paid, until the entire Capital Stock shall have been subscribed

ACTUAL CAPITAL REQUIRED

The Company confidently believe that thirty-five per cent of the Capital Stock will construct and fully equip

25,000 Miles of Wire

Which will connect all the commercial centers and important places in the United States. This opinion rests upon the most reliable estimates and responsible offers to construct and equip the lines.

THE NATIONAL TELEGRAPH COMPANY is organized under the laws of the State of New York, and franchises conferred by an act of Congress, approved July 24, 1866.

President—GEORGE B. SENTER, of Cleveland, Ohio.

Vice President—ROBERT SQUIRES, of New York City.

Secretary—GEORGE B. WALLER, of New York City.

COMPANY'S OFFICE,

Nos. 64 and 66 Broadway, New York

A limited amount of the capital stock of this Company is allotted to this locality, and those having an opportunity, and subscribing, will be placed upon equal terms with its corporators, and will secure like interests in all franchises which have accrued, or may hereafter accrue to the Company from any and all sources.

Stock may now be subscribed in this Company at the Office of THE MERCANTILE AGENCY, R. G. DUN & CO., Room No. 5, Commercial Bank Building, corner Main and Madison streets, Memphis, Tenn.

EDITORIAL
THE PEN IS MIGHTIER THAN THE SWORD.

WEDNESDAY, : : : : APRIL 22, 1868

THE impeachment farce "drags its slow length along." It ought to result in a terrific break down, but we are prepared for any enormity on the part of Radicalishm. This trial, like that of WERTZ and Mrs. SURRATT, was instituted for the purpose of conviction, and, notwithstanding the managers have failed to make a single point against the President, we still believe he will be convicted, and that the Government in a few days will be in the hands of the Radicals. We hail this result with joy, not on account of the President, who has stood by the Constitution, but because such injustice and enormity will hasten the deliverance of the Southern people, who are groaning in chains and suffering from the oppressions of the carpet-bag scalawags. We have carefully read, and with deep interest, the speech of Judge CURTIS. From this able and eloquent argument it will be seen that the first point upon which Judge CURTIS dwells, is that the language of the tenure-of-office bill does not protect STANTON in his position. That bill says that Cabinet officers shall hold office "during the term of the President by whom they may have been appointed, and for one month thereafter." STANTON's commission, signed by Mr. LINCOLN, reads, "during the pleasure of the President"—and that commission is the only authority which Mr. STANTON ever had. The term of Mr. LINCOLN closed with his death, by the provisions of the Constitution itself. The second point made is, that the evident intention of the act was to place Cabinet officers on a different footing from other officials. The Cabinet officers are the official advisers of the President—which other officers are not. A different rule should govern them, and the Senate declared that they should only hold office "during the term of the President by whom they have been appointed." STANTON was not appointed by President JOHNSON, therefore he has no claim to the office. The third point strikes us as more forcible than either of the others. It is a history of the tenure act. The bill, as it originally passed the Senate, said nothing about Cabinet officers. The House amended it, placing Cabinet officers on the same footing with all other appointed officers. The Senate refused to concur. A committee of conference was appointed, Mr. SCHENCK representing the House, and Senators SHERMAN and WILLIAMS the Senate, who agreed upon the present act. When it was reported to the House, there was no debate. Mr. SCHENCK simply said that the terms of these officers expire "with the term of service of the President who appoints them, and one month after, in case of death or accident." Senator SHERMAN, in the course of the debate, said:

> That this provision does not apply to the present case, is shown by the fact that its language is so framed as to apply to the present President. The Senator shows that himself, and argues truly that it would not prevent the present President from removing the Secretary of War, the Secretary of the Navy, or the Secretary of State, and if I supposed that either of those gentlemen was so wanting in manhood, in honor, as to hold his place after the politest intimation from the President of the United States that his services were no longer needed, I certainly, as a Senator, would consent to his removal at any time, and so would we all.

The bill was passed with this authoritative explanation. The fourth point is that the President acted upon the advice of every member of his Cabinet except STANTON, and that this is proof that he did not intend to violate the law. Without a criminal intent there can be no crime, and should be no conviction. The remaining portion of Judge CURTIS' speech is taken up with a discussion of the articles of impeachment, and closes with the following eloquent declamation:

> It must be unnecessary for me to say anything concerning the importance of this case, not only now, but in the future. It must be apparent to any one in any way concerned, or in connection with this trial, that it is and will be the most conspicuous instance that has ever been or can ever be expected to be found of American justice, or of American injustice; of that justice which, Mr. Burke says, is the great standing policy of all civilized States; of that injustice which is certain to be condemned, which makes even the wisest man mad, and which, in the fixed and unalterable order of God's providence, is sure to return to plague the inventor.

The first witness introduced by the defense was General LORENZO THOMAS. He swore positively to the fact that the President never instructed him to use force, and that the President declared that his only object in removing STANTON was to get a decision from the courts. This testimony was objected to by BUTLER but admitted by the Senate by a vote of forty-three to ten. It further appeared that BUTLER had employed a spy to follow THOMAS and induce him to make damaging admissions, if possible. General SHERMAN was examined Saturday. The defense offered to prove by him that he had been offered the position of Secretary ad interim, at two separate times. This was admitted by the Senate. The President's counsel then offered to prove that the President had declared on both occasions that his only object was to get the question before the courts. The vote on the admission of this testimony stood—yeas twenty-five, nays twenty-seven. So the evidence was rejected. The vote is significant. The Court then adjourned. R. I. MEIGS, Clerk of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, was then called, and the records of the case of Stanton against Thomas were admitted by a vote of thirty-four to seventeen. Senator Johnson then proposed to ask General SHERMAN what the President stated his purpose to be, in tendering him the appointment of Secretary ad interim. The question was admitted by a vote of twenty-six to twenty-three. General SHERMAN then testified that the President had said that the relations between himself and STANTON were such that he could not execute his duties as President of the United States, and that the President wanted the office administered in the interest of the country. General SHERMAN also stated that the President never expressed the idea of using force to get STANTON out of the War Department. The Senate then adjourned. We confess our inability to understand the rulings of the Senate on Saturday and Monday. To us, they seem to be directly opposed to each other.

THE manner in which Sergeant BATES was treated by the Radicals at Washington shows the meanness of that party. During Mr. BATES' journey through the South no indignity was offered the flag he bore. On the contrary, he was greeted everywhere with ovations and demonstrations of joy. While in the South neither BATES nor his flag was insulted, but when he reached Washington, where Radicals most do congregate, both he and his flag were rudely insulted. On arriving at the East gate, the policeman in charge of the door stated that he was ordered to allow no demonstration in the capitol without the written consent of Sergeant-at-arms BROWN, of the Senate. In thus refusing to permit Sergeant BATES to display from the dome of the Capitol at Washington the national flag, which he had borne in triumph through the South, the Radicals of Congress acted consistently. Wherever this brave soldier went among those who are denounced as rebels, the Stars and Stripes were hailed with loud acclaim by a populace which is this day devoted to the Constitution of the United States. From the dome of the Capitol at Richmond, where the Confederate Congress sat for years, the Old Flag was waved to the breeze, and the shouts of the very men who had battled with all their energies for a separate nationality attested that they are truly loyal. Distinguished ex-rebel chieftains everywhere took Sergeant BATES by the hand and cheered him on his way. He was constantly entertained at the expense of Southern towns and cities, and was welcomed and made at home among the men who had fought against the flag he bore. Everywhere evidence of the most convincing character was given that the people of the South are ready to act the part of faithful and law-abiding citizens. It remained for the Radicals who now hold possession of the Capitol at Washington, to insult the American flag, by refusing to permit it to be displayed from the dome of the building which they daily desecrate by the display of feelings of animosity to the Union and the Constitution. Let the people mark the contrast. The ex-rebels are loyal to-day, and the principal leaders of the Republican party are traitors to the best interests of the nation.

AN ordinance will be submitted to the voters of Memphis, on the 30th instant, to decide whether time bonds shall be issued for the purpose of funding the city debt. The great demand for some measure of this kind, to establish the credit of the city and relieve the people of worthless bonds, has so long been felt, that it seems scarcely necessary to urge the adoption of the ordinance. Every person in Memphis is directly or indirectly interested in this matter, and we believe that few votes will be polled for "no bonds." This ordinance will enable scrip holders to sell at advance rates, and to invest, if they elect in the thirty year bonds, at about fifty cents on the dollar. It is the intention of the city to relieve all the outstanding scrip at par against the new bonds at fifty per cent. This will re-establish the credit of the city abroad and relieve the people of an onerous burden at home.

Last Saturday a ghastly spectacle was witnessed near St. Louis which sent a thrill of horror through the city and makes all Christendom stand aghast: About one hundred coffins were seen floating and dancing, gleaming and swamping on the bosom of the Mississippi river. This solemn voyage of death and awful procession of the dead over the glassy waves of the treacherous river of death, was explained by the fact that the graves of the cholera victims at Arsenal island have been invaded by the current of the river, and the graves opened, allowing the coffins and uncoffined dead to float away toward Dixie. None of them reached Memphis, as it is supposed the coffins were caught at Cairo to see what was in them.

It has been ascertained that above one hundred and fifty dead bodies were washed away from Arsenal island, at St. Louis, last week. Thirty-eight or forty were recovered at different points; some were in coffins, others were not. There were plain board coffins, and coffins velvet-covered and silver-mounted. All classes of people were represented; the old and young, male and female, black and white, mingled together in funeral array, floating down the great river of death, which has engulfed so many of the living, and yet refused not to entomb the dead.

There are in New York 229 churches and 11 missions of evangelical character, thirty-four Catholic churches, six Jewish Synagogues, seven spiritualistic, etc., and nine of other denominations, making a total of 419 churches of all kinds, with accommodations for 290,000 persons. The resident population of the island is about 800,000.

The Impeachment Trial.

Special Telegraphic Correspondence of the Louisville Courier.]

WASHINGTON, April 19.

Mr. Evarts stated to the Court yesterday that Mr. Stanbery possibly might desire to submit other proof on Monday, if he were present, but his physical condition to-night forbids his attending to-morrow. He was so much indisposed that his associates were not allowed to see him. Still he hopes to be in Court Tuesday.

The case for the defense is, therefore, virtually closed.

The prosecution will have little or no rebutting proof, as they have abandoned the idea of calling Grant as a witness. There would have been some rich developments about his trip with the President if he had been called, and the Managers acted wisely in not calling the gentleman.

Boutwell will open the argument for the Managers, and be followed by Evarts and Stanbery. Old fussy, Bingham, will close the argument.

The Radicals to-night are sanguine of the result. The friends of the President are less hopeful.

THE STOCKHOLDERS of the TENNESSEE SAVINGS INSTITUTION have determined to close up their Banking Business under its present organization. Tax Payers, Take Notice

BY a recent act of the General Assembly of the State, it is made my sworn duty to add twenty-five per cent. to all taxes on property that is allowed to be advertised for non-payment of taxes. It is also made unlawful for me to give a receipt for taxes after the property is advertised, unless payment of the said twenty-five per cent. is made in addition to all taxes, costs and fees consequent on said advertising.

I refer all parties interested to sections 17 and 18 of the "Act to Amend the Revenue Laws of this State," published in the Memphis Appeal April 14, 15 and 16; also, in the Memphis Weekly Post of the 9th of April.

All property which has been reported to the Circuit Court must, according to legal enactment, be advertised at least forty days previous to the first Monday in July. The Tax Collector and Printer must have fifteen days to make their preparations for publishing. I am disposed to give all the indulgence that the law allows, but it will be readily seen that I cannot extend this indulgence beyond the 10th day of May next. Let all who would save themselves trouble and unnecessary expense be warned in time. I shall not withhold publication of ANY ONE'S PROPERTY who fails to pay by the 10th of May, and I hope my friends will remember that I cannot attend to everybody on the VERY LAST DAY. Those who are wise will come forward early and receive prompt attention, and so avoid a crowd and the consequent confusion and possible mistakes which are always incident to the last days on which a Tax Collector keeps his office open for receipts of taxes.

DIRECT TRADE.

An Englishman's Conclusions After Six Weeks in the South.

The Need of Labor and How to Obtain it—Some Suggestions.

Direct Trade Between Memphis and Europe—The Evil, How Remedied.

Very Interesting Address of Mr. Everett, of London, at the Chamber of Commerce.

Pursuant to a call a large number of citizens assembled at the Chamber of Commerce last night to hear an address from Mr. John Everitt, of London, England, on the subject of direct trade. A little after eight o'clock the meeting was called to order by Mr. T. A. Nelson, President of the Chamber of Commerce, who stated the object of the call, and introduced Mr. Everitt to the audience.

He commenced by saying that he had accepted the invitation of the Chamber of Commerce with great pleasure. It was his intention to take a retrospect of his Southern tour, and make a few suggestions to the people of affairs as he viewed them.

He had seen nothing during his trip through the South to change his views or modify his convictions. You have in this country every element necessary to make this a great, most prosperous country. The one thing needful is labor. To obtain it, it is necessary to take steps to create full confidence in the minds of those sought to be induced to leave their own country. It is in vain to expect them to come as mere machines. You will not get the best class of immigrants unless steps are taken to show them that they are welcome and that you earnestly desire them among you.

The whole matter depends on the Southern people themselves. Unless they make a sacrifice, a change of policy, and present something more promising than has been offered heretofore, it is in vain to talk. The speaker was delighted to know that already many old prejudices have given away, and hoped all would give way, and believed that before long a hearty welcome would be extended to all desirous of becoming identified with the Southern people. It is certain that this is designed to be a great country. It presents the finest fields for labor, and can be made to furnish the greatest reward for labor of any country the sun ever shone on.

This territory of thirteen States exports a larger amount of produce than any other country on the globe. This is a simple matter of fact, as proved by the official records. Of course England exports more than you do—not of productions of the soil, but manufactures. Another fact is, that to produce this wealth your land never had, in the palmiest days of Southern prosperity, two millions of laborers. With two millions of laborers in thirteen States you produce a larger amount of exporting wealth than any other country. No other country has ever produced as much with five times as much labor. If this is not the greatest argument in favor of this country, the speaker could not understand what was. It teaches volumes to every reflecting mind. If this handful produces the largest exports of any country, what will be the result of twenty millions? Even then you won't get under cultivation all the land you have. You want fifty millions before you get to that position to dive into the earth and obtain what is hidden from view. He who is not alive to the importance of labor, is blind to the prosperity of the country. Every man should be resolved that labor should be spread over the country. You want to build up your levees and keep them from devastating your crops, and build up a pedestal of power that will give you such a position as will startle even the imagination of the most sanguine mind.

If Memphis advances as she should, and as she will, it will be by multiplying plows. Cultivate the soil, do everything to make Memphis a great center, thickly settled all around you, throwing everything into your market. If Memphis is to be a great city and rank as she will, if all are true to yourselves, there is not a man who should not be stirred to his utmost.

The relation of labor is the same to the country as direct trade is to the city. The speaker saw no reason why Memphis should not rival St. Louis. There is no difficulty or cause of disparagement. You have the same river, the same net work of railroads; you will soon have by railroad, as you now have by river, direct communication with Arkansas. There can be nothing urged against Memphis being a great center. She is in the center of a great cotton growing country, and, although the speaker would be sorry to see the people cultivate cotton to the exclusion of cereals, and thus be dependent upon others for what they should furnish them, still there ought to be a large quantity grown.

The speaker believed that the best means to produce this result is direct trade. What is meant by direct trade? The moment Memphis becomes a center of direct trade she is no longer unknown to Europe and to fame. The moment the city is thus lifted up, she becomes a world-wide known place. One great trouble with the South is that she has had a mere dependant or secondary existence. She has been dependent on others when able to supply them. The people have seen through a dark glass—never straight or to the point. Until a few years ago, Memphis was a mere suburb of New Orleans, eight hundred miles away. You sent your cotton and put up with a margin. This is a fact. Only during the past few years has this monstrous absurdity been swept away. The idea is monstrous. Such a city as Memphis has no business to be second to any place, nor should the South. When the South recovers from her present prostration, she can assert her dignity, and need bow to no section. It is in your power to lay the foundation of a great commercial empire.

To play second rate has been the misfortune of the South. The price you have paid for the experience should teach you the importance of the lesson. The speaker desired the people to perform the great duty devolving upon them, instead of indolently allowing opportunities to slip by. Unless they strive for the first rank they will soon be crushed, and forced to the rear. All should put their hands resolutely to the plow with all necessary resolution, or the golden opportunity is lost to Memphis.

Direct trade also means that Memphis shall be known the world over as the representative of a large portion of Tennessee, Alabama and Mississippi; that it shall be known that if the residents want any articles, they can find them, as Americans say, "right here," at the smallest possible price.

Memphis has already an air line to Norfolk, which is anxious to secure the trade. Everybody looks to Norfolk, but the people have not made up their minds how to bring it all about. Colonel Tate has already sent five hundred bales of cotton to Liverpool, via Norfolk, saving twenty days in time and two dollars per bale in cost. If you make Memphis a grand center of attraction, you can have connections all through and abundance of money to secure direct trade. He would not shut out any port. If Pensacola would do, why try Pensacola. But Norfolk is the port for Memphis. You can find in Europe a good market for your lumber, some of which is the finest the speaker ever saw; the iron ore cannot be excelled, and he believed the iron could be taken to Norfolk on cars, thrown into shiphold, and sold in Europe at a large advance on cost.

Mr. Everitt next alluded to former efforts to secure direct trade, and said it failed because they not started properly. He had met a merchant who had purchased from a London house, and knew the value of five per cent., and what handling costs. The speaker was not dependent on direct trade. Like immigration, he found it a lost child. He wanted to help the South, and expected to make it pay if he could. He was determined to leave no stone unturned to help the people, that they might understand that whatever they want, from a paper of pins to an iron church, he should furnish them. He wanted to cut a channel that profit may run in it. The North are wise. They take your money and furnish your goods. The South was unwise. Now that the South is getting a new start, the people want life begun on a new and independent basis, and win their own way to wealth. [Applause.]

Suppose only ten per cent. be saved on the cost of imported goods. It would go a long way beyond paying all your city debts. Give me, said Mr. Everitt, that per cent. on your imports during the last twenty years, and I will agree to pay for all the Nicolson pavement you need for the next ten years and build you a church besides. [Laughter.] He had seen an imported article supposed to have been bought at first cost. Upon enquiry he learned that it had cost thirty per cent. above what he knew to be manufacturers' prices. It is an axiom in business, that if you want to buy a thing well, you must go where it is made. The farther off you go, the poorer it is. No man is properly served in a second or third rate market. Direct trade, fairly managed—and if not, people will drop it—will benefit rich and poor alike. By the saving thus brought about, the people will soon have the means of making things for themselves that have been procured by this direct trade.

Direct trade means another thing. It means that your crops will find another market. Looking at the census the speaker discovered that New York led all other States in growing hops. Here they grow spontaneously. This one point is worth reflecting upon. Sweet potatoes, grapes, beans, etc., can also find a good market. He had tasted wines from scuppernong grapes equal to any he ever tasted in Europe, where the word scuppernong and the grape itself are unknown. Why not make the wine here and ship it to Europe? Instead of Rhine wine why not say Mississippi wine? The speaker remembered—and he was yo a young man—when Rhine wine was never heard of; but the people there determined it should be heard of, and it was. Are not the Mississippi and Tennessee rivers as fertile and lovely as the Rhine? Why not say Tennessee wine? The speaker expected to see the day when he should call for and drink a bottle labeled "Tennessee wine."

He was surprised to learn, a few weeks ago, of the properties and growth of the Scuppernong grape. Get direct trade, and all Europe will know about it, and also about the Southern forests of cypress, black walnut, pine, etc., and ore. Once make Memphis a great central point, and all the products of the country will speedily find their way to Europe. When the Europeans get your wine, hops, lumber, etc., they will ask: "Where did this come from?" And the answer will be: "From Memphis, eight hundred miles above New Orleans." That's the way people will talk. Make direct trade known; let the same resolution, fortitude and heroism that characterized you in the late deadly struggle be shown, and you will soon place yourselves in the front rank of fame and prosperity. You have everything with which to make a city, if you but apply yourselves as you should. When people talk about you, work the harder. Whatever you send, let it be the best and finest; that's the way. Now that I have become a sort of itinerant citizen, I have more feeling in the matter; and, terrible as is the gloom that has settled like a pall over many homes, if you are true to yourselves, your prosperity will in time exceed even your most sanguine anticipations. It is all in your hands. You can make Memphis the rival of any of the great cities of the country. What made Cincinnati? Why, grapes, pigs and—nothing else. [Laughter.] You have pigs, grapes, and everything else besides. I believe that what labor will do for agricultura, direct trade will do for Memphis. Labor is the forlorn hope of agriculture—direct trade the forlorn hope for Memphis.

The speaker then alluded to his recent visit to Vicksburg, whose people were rapidly awakening to the necessities of their salvation, projecting new railways, etc. When he came to this country he had no thought of engaging in a direct trade project. He had met General Richardson and Captain Saunders in London, and came to inquire into the propriety of urging his clients to loan money to Southern planters. But he soon saw that this was "played out." But he felt that this was a great country. Like the old Scotchman, he felt it in his bones; and in going through the country, asking questions, he saw that this was the day and hour, and, at last, that Memphis was the place to establich direct trade. That was why he was here talking about it.

Don't stop any longer; don't come to me in London unless I can serve you better than anybody else; but go to somebody. Make a start; begin by little. Don't think that I will send a cargo to New Orleans, to be brought here by a tug and thrown on the market at what it will bring. That is not my way of doing business, and not the way to build up a strong interest. If any man wants anything from me, he must order it. I want to establish matters on a firm foundation, and do not expect to jump into a big thing at once.

The Chamber of Commerce should regard this as a matter of importance, demanding their most earnest consideration. It is the duty of the members to take the lead. You can collect valuable information about your lands and resources, and the requirements of the country—cram a pamphlet, and spread it over Europe, and I will guarantee that anything sent me will go to the right place. It won't tell from any other quarter; but this official action will scatter all misconceptions, because coming from accredited commercial representatives. Another thing: You have a custom house; send all you can through it both ways. Make it work.

Mr. Everitt closed by expressing his thanks to the audience for having listened to him so patiently. Only a few weeks ago he came to the South, a stranger, and he had been bewitched by the kindness and cordiality that had met him on all hands. He confessed that he had never spent six weeks that had gratified and taught him more, and he would return to England a larger man mentally, with higher notions about this great country. He would say, without flattery, that he had met in the South some of the finest men he had ever seen. The attractions here were so great that they might one day draw him back. He was no politician, and had never spoken a word of politics. He had discarded politics, and wished his hearers could all discard it. His desire was to bring about a better state of affairs for the South, and especially for Memphis.

Mr. Everitt, in conclusion, thanked the audience and the public for the many kindnesses he had received during his visit. He was taking a final farewell and might never see them again. He had offered them practical thoughts, and hoped they would adopt them. Nothing would afford him a greater pleasurer than to see the South rise, Phœnix like, from her ashes, and start forth on a career of prosperity and influence. He again expressed his faith in the integrity and glorious future of the South, and closed.

Mr. J. M. Hill took the chair, and Colonel Nelson proceeded to read the following preample and resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, It having been made manifest by the address of Mr. John Everitt, of England, that direct trade between this section of our country and Europe can be established, on a basis of mutual advantage, by the exchange of the products of the soil and manufactories of the different parts of the country, beyond the Atlantic, and which we, to a very limited extent, now enjoy, except through and by paying tribute to the capital and enterprise of other and more fortunate sections of our country, and who, to a large extent, reap their profits from the "sweat of our brow;" and whereas, our duty to ourselves demands that we should realize the best price we can get for our labor, by selling in the best market and buying where our wants can be supplied at the lowest rate. Therefore,

Resolved, That we will encourage such direct trade with foreign countries as it may seem our interest to do, and that we invite to come among us those who have the capital and enterprise to carry out that desirable result.

Resolved, That we are not prejudiced against or wedded to any particular line of railroad or steamboats, but will protect our interests by encouraging such as offer the cheapest rates, the best facilities and most prompt attention to the transportation of our freight.

Resolved, That we would hail with delight the establishment of a regular line of steam vessels from Norfolk, Virginia, to ports in Europe, believing that route can be made the cheapest and most expeditious in reaching those ports.

Resolved, That the region of country contiguous to Memphis, embracing West Tennessee, North Alabama, North Mississippi, and the Middle and Eastern parts of Arkansas, offers to persons in Europe, as well as the Northern States of our own country, the greatest inducements—of fertile soil, pure water, good health, and salubrious climate—to emigrate and settle amongst us.

Resolved, That we pledge ourselves, as well as all good men in country and town, to extend the hand of welcome to all good people who may come amongst us, regardless of locality or nationality, and we will afford them such facilities as may be in our power, in establishing them as agriculturist or otherwise, in a country which offers inducements of the cheapest and most productive lands.

Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed by the Chairman of this meeting, to take such steps and make such suggestions, from time to time, as will encourage a healthy and profitable trade with other sections, and to convey such information by pamphlet, or otherwise, to the people of the Northern States and of Europe, showing them the statistics of products of our soil, climate, etc., and offering assurances that their lives and property are are as safe and as well protected as in any other section of our country, false reports to the contrary notwithstanding.

Resolved, That the thanks of this meeting be and are extended to Mr. Everitt, for the information he has given us in his three addresses before our people, and the interest he has manifested in improving our condition, by inaugurating direct trade and encouraging immigration to a country which cannot be excelled by any under the sun, and that we part with him with great reluctance, and wish him a safe return to his distant home, and express the hope that he will again visit us when our resources are greater and our hearts more buoyant.

The following committee was appointed by the Chair: John T. Trezevant, William R. Moore, Robertson Topp, W. B. Greenlaw, Branson Bayless. Colonel Nelson was added to the committee, and the meeting then adjourned.

Meeting at Germantown, Tennessee.

GERMANTOWN, April 18, 1868.

EDITORS AVALANCHE: A meeting of a portion of the citizens of this vicinity met at the Presbyterian church, this evening. T. Scott, Esq., was called to the Chair, and William Mitchell appointed Secretary.

Dr. Stout explained in a forcible and expressive manner, the object of the meeting to be to inquire into the condition of the people of this section and to ascertain their wishes as to the propriety or necessity of sending an agent North to solicit aid for the destitute. Discussion and inquiry became pretty general, when it was discovered that there were twelve families needed help. A vote was then taken on sending an agent North, which resulted in fifteen yeas and thirteen nays. At this juncture the minority left the church. The majority then proceeded to select a proper person to go North to solicit aid for the disabled. Rev. J. Dix Mills was selected.

A committee was then appointed to receive and distribute any donations that he might receive.

The meeting then adjourned. H.

'Azile,' recently issued by the Southern Methodist Publishing House, ought to be obtained by every cultivated reader in the land. The book stores here, we believe, have not yet received it; but we hope they will announce it in a short time." WONDERFUL ACHIEVEMENT.—An artist in this city has succeeded in taking a handsome picture of one of the plainest looking specimens of individual mortality that belongs to the editorial fraternity, and that without damaging materially the photographer's instrument. DAILY AVALANCHE OFFICE, WEDNESDAY, April 22.

BOATS LEAVING TO-DAY.

FRANK PARGOUD	New Orleans	5 p.m.

BUSINESS—WEATHER—RIVERS.

Weather clear and pleasant. The river here is still rising, and has risen four inches in twenty-four hours, up to yesterday evening. At Cairo the river is rising slowly. At St. Louis the river is declining rapidly. The Ohio is rapidly receding, from Pittsburg to Louisville, with thirteen feet in the canal and eleven feet seven inches on the falls. Cumberland and Tennessee rivers are also on the decline. The Arkansas river is falling, with seven and a half feet from Little Rock out. White river was reported rising slowly on Monday.

ARRIVALS.

Steamer P. W. Strader, Louisville.
" Olive Branch, St. Louis.
" Richmond, New Orleans.
" Frank Pargoud, New Orleans.
" Continental, New Orleans.
" Celeste, Little Rock.

DEPARTURES.

Steamer P. W. Strader, New Orleans.
" Olive Branch, New Orleans.
" Richmond, Louisville.
" Sam J. Hale, Cincinnati.
" Commercial, White river.
" Mollie Hambleton, St. Francis river.
" Continental, St. Louis.

BOATS IN PORT.

Des Arc, Centralia, Frank Pargoud, Celeste.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Business in river circles is still on the wane, with no improvement in freights.

The upper streams are all falling steadily, and we believe all danger of a disastrous overflow has passed. The total rise here from the effect of the upper river will hardly bring the stage of the river within two feet of the high water mark last Spring.

The Olive Branch and P. W. Strader passed down yesterday morning for New Orleans, both well loaded.

The Mollie Able is due from New Orleans to-morrow.

The Dexter leaves Louisville to-day for New Orleans.

The Richmond passed up yesterday at noon for Louisville, with a good passenger trip and a fair miscellaneous freight trip, including 200 Texan cattle.

The Clifton, Captain Stein, will arrive from Cincinnati to-day with a cargo of merchandise, and return to-morrow.

The W. R. Arthur is due from St. Louis en route to New Orleans.

The Des Arc is receiving a new dress, which makes her look quite handsome.

The Centralia, Captain Nowlan, is up for the Arkansas at five p.m.

The Commercial, with a good trip as usual, got off for White river last night.

The Mollie Hambleton, for St. Francis river, and the Sam J. Hale, for Cincinnati, backed out with fair trips.

The Marble City is the packet leaving for St. Louis to-morrow at five p.m.

The Continental passed up for St. Louis last evening.

The towboat Bee passed up yesterday.

The Celeste arrived last night from the Arkansas with 180 bales of cotton. She reports the river falling fast.

The Empire, Captain Yerkes, leaves to-day at five p.m. for Little Rock and way points on the Arkansas,

The Cora S. has gone from Louisville to Cincinnati to load for the Arkansas.

The Empire is due down, bound for the Arkansas river.

The magnificent passenger steamer, Frank Pargoud, in command of Captain John Tobain, will be found at the wharf this morning ready to receive for a return trip to New Orleans, and will leave at five p.m., making all intermediate landings. The Pargoud has unsurpassed passenger accommodations. Our New Orleans correspondent makes particular mention of her in another column. Mr. George Williams, a whole souled gentleman, who is noted for courtesy and urbanity, presides in the office with grace, and is ably seconded by Mr. Benedict. The shipping and traveling public will bear in mind that she leaves promptly to-day at five p.m.

"Sam," of the St. Louis Republican, in referring to our puffing a certain hotel, strikes us on a weak point, which, for the present, must remain in statu quo.

There is a large number of steamboatmen in town at present, pressing brick.

MERCHANTS VS. WHARF-BOATS.—The following petition, with a large list of names of merchants and business men attached, was handed us for publication last night. We omit our own views on the subjec for the following:

The following, which can be fully substantiated as facts, are herein respectfully offered for the information and consideration of the Hon. Board of Mayor and Aldermen, touching upon the errors and grievances arising from special privilege to wharf-boats, now lying at the city landing, and occupying two-thirds of the same:

It is respectfully urged and herein set forth, that $10,000 will place a wharf-boat at our landing, paying for wharfage, say $1,200, license $100, that will afford storage capacity equal to any four commission houses in the city. They claim to receive, store and forward freights, free of extra charge, from and to all points on the Mississippi and tributaries. That they do this business there is not the shadow of a doubt; but that they do it for the public weal, without recompense, admits of a certainty of doubt.

Admit the work of receiving, storing and reshipping is performed free of any extra charge, are you not giving thereby immense advantage to foreign tonnage, to take from your city all the local trade above and below, which, until these facilities were offered, always sought Memphis as the most available market.

It is a fact patent to all who have inquired into it, that the St. Louis packets, and the Ohio river packets, will contract through and past Memphis to all local points on White and Arkansas rivers, at the same, and frequently at less rates, than they charge on the same class of freights from Memphis. This discrimination against Memphis, and in favor of St. Louis and Louisville, naturally drives trade from our doors.

Merchants and planters will be induced to purchase stocks and supplies in St. Louis and Louisville, so long as transient boats are granted so great advantage, through the aid of the wharf-boats, to give them a lower rate of freight than they receive from Memphis. So long as the wharf-boats are brought in competition with the commission and forwarding merchant, plying his legitimate business, you paralyse the localpackets which are identified with the interests of Memphis.

MONETARY.

DAILY AVALANCHE OFFICE, TUESDAY, April 22, 1868.

There is very little spirit exhibited in financial circles. Money is easier to some extent, the banks are discounting very little paper, while street brokers command from 3@6 ₩ cent a month on short loans backed with collaterals. A general dullness prevails in all branches of trade, deposits are falling off with business, and in view of the dull times anticipated during the summer months and small amount of revenue derived from the banking business at present, the Tennessee Savings Institution has concluded to gradually wind up its business. Mr. Bethel, the president, and Mr. Pritchard, the cashier, have come to the conclusion that the banking business was not lucrative enough for their optics.

EXCHANGE—Bankers check on New Orleans at par, on St. Louis at ¼c premium, on Cincinnati at ¼@⅜c premium, and on New York at ⅜c premium. There is little or no demand for New Orleans exchange, nor is there much offered; bankers take bills at ½c. discount as the ruling rate.

GOLD—In New York yesterday opened at 138¾, and at 2 p. m. advanced to 139¼. The market here was steady, dealers were offering 138@138¼ for round lots, and selling over the counter at 139½@140.

SILVER—Steady, buying at 127@128 and selling at 130@131.

CITY SCRIP—The city will shortly vote on the proposition to issue thirty year bonds for paying the interest in bonds falling due and for the purpose of retiring the outstanding debt. There is no doubt but it will carry, and the value of scrip will be greatly enhanced; under this influence scrip is already going up. There is lively inquiry among tax payers and speculators. Holders are firm, asking 67@68c and giving over the counter 65@66c.

COUNTY WARRANTS—Dull and quiet, buying at 55@58c. and selling at 60c.

POLICE SCRIPT—Steady, buying at 83@84, and selling at 86@87.

COMMERCIAL.

Cotton.

The market during the week just closed has exhibited a steady advancing tendency, and a decline in Liverpool in the early part of the week had no effect here. Those having cotton on hand are careless about selling, and are confident that they are in no danger of losing by holding. The decrease of stocks in European and American ports; the knowledge now well established that the American supply has nearly all gone forward, and that scarcely enough remains to supply the home demand, with the shortness of this year's yield in India, and the increased demand for manufactured goods are the main causes set forth by cotton bulls, to show that no future decline is likely to occur. The advance in prices came too late however, to be of much benefit to the producer. In a few exceptional cases they have realized partial benefits. Speculators have enjoyed the pleasure of largely increased gains, and we hear of parties having cleared many thousands by their ventures.

From farmers in the city, during the week, we are informed that cotton planting was generally begun last Monday and is progressing finely. Corn has shown itself above the ground and the prospect is fair for a good crop this season. A number have been here in search of assistance and supplies, et cetera, but the best disposed merchants are, as a general thing unable to extend favors. Some planters are known to require very small advances, often no more than a few hundred pounds of meat to last them until a few bales of the expectant crop can be sent in. Many merchants had their hands so badly scorched that like a burnt child they dread the fire again, though in many cases the temptations are very strong to venture. By the count of Mr. Miller, the night watchman, there was on the bluff last evening, exactly 987 bales, nearly all of which has been sold or is in the hands of speculators. The stock on hand at this time is but 1,954 bales. The Commercial brought 214 bales from White river, and the Hamilton 126 from the St. Francis, while the different rail roads brought 113 more, a total of 453 bales. The receipts of Memphis this year will likely foot up a quarter of a million bales, which is 30,000 over the receipts of last season. From reliable and authentic information, we are led to believe that Memphis is attracting the earnest attention of a large share of planters, who heretofore have sent their cotton to other markets. This has been brought about by the high prices realized here, sales having frequently been effected over New York figures. Some factors contend that Memphis is the best cotton market in America, while brokers often remark that they find it impossible to purchase at less than Liverpool rates. Be this as it may, there is no doubt but that our market is fully equal to many of the seaport cities. The few bales remaining unsold here, renders large operations out of the question. It is generally agreed among buyers and factors that the cotton season is about closed. Little remains in the country, and the few scattering lots arriving renders the market so variable and irregular that quotations show wide differences. The market opened yesterday morning with an active inquiry and a limited supply. The few bales that came by the St. Francis and White river packets were hunted for before samples were drawn. General sales were consumated on the bluff before samples were removed from the top of the bales. Factors asked full New York rates and more than one sale was effected at a fraction over the quotations of that market. A respectable list cannot be found and transactions are confined to small scattering lots, the tail ends of the season's business. The market closed inactive. Sales reported were as follows: 8 bales ordinary, at 28c; 40 good ordinary at 28c; 21 bales low middling, at 29c; 10 bales good style low middling, at 29½c; 6 bales barely middling, at 29¾c; 2 bales middling, at 30c; and a few scattering bales of low cottons at last pickings, etc. at from 22@26c. IMMIGRATION.

Settling the Waste Lands by Immigration from Abroad.

Lands to be Sold at Nominal Prices to Actual Settlers.

EDITORS AVALANCHE: Messrs. Topp, Trezevant and Attorney General Wallace, who, in obedience to an invitation from the citizens of the counties of DeSoto, Panola, Tallahatchie and Yallabusha, have returned to our city, bring the most cheering accounts from those counties. They addressed large and intelligent numbers of the most substantial citizens along the line of the Mississippi and Tennessee railroad, beginning at Grenada and terminating at this city, on what is considered the best plan of populating that region with industrious and thrifty settlers, who by the development of the agricultural resources, will restore to our city and the whole country through which this important road passes, that degree of prosperity which should be confidently expected from the fertile soil and general climate in that portion of our sister State.

The plan is to form a land association in each county through which the railroad runs between Memphis and Grenada, by the selection of five citizens of the county as Trustees, to be selected with reference to their integrity and capacity, who may receive such subscriptions of lands as the land owners are willing to place at the disposal of the association to actual settlers, at such prices as, under the circumstances, a committee to be appointed by the trustees shall value the lands at.

After twenty-five thousand (25,000) acres shall be subscribed in the county, then those subscribing their lands, and becoming stockholders in the association to the extent of the value of their lands thus subscribed, shall elect a permanent Board of Directors, members of the association voting for directors in proportion to the number of shares of stock in the association. The lands, after they have been fully described and valued, are then to be offered to actual settlers at the same prices at which they are valued by the parties disinterested in the transaction, appointed by the trustees for that purpose, with such small addition to the original cost as the actual expenses of their association may absolutely require.

The method proposed to bring the lands to public notice is by extensive advertising, particularly in the leading journals in this State and in the great Northwest, and by sending one or more agents to the Northwest to explain to the people of the densely populated regions of Ohio, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Indiana, etc, the natural advantages of our soil, climate, contiguity to market, cheapness of price and favorable terms on which these lands can and will be disposed of to actual settlers, who come to the country for the purpose of locating in this beautiful region, which, perhaps, combines more advantages than any other portion of our whole country.

The arguments of these Memphians are in favor of adopting the system of small farms, say from twenty (20) to fifty (50) acres, and abandon the culture of cotton for the more profitable raising of marketable productions, such as onions, potatoes (sweet and Irish), corn, wheat, etc

It was ascertained, on inquiry, that of the fifty or seventy five thousand barrels of onions consumed annually in this city, not a solitary bushel has ever been shipped to it over the Mississippi and Tennessee railroad, which daily arrives in our city, traversing one of the most fertile regions in the whole South, of the length of one hundred miles, nearly every acre of which, if properly cultivated, would yield from two hundred to four hundred bushels of onions, now selling in this market at three dollars per bushel, and as a commodity of commerce as staple as flour or bacon.

What has been said in reference to the onion, is equally applicable to all other articles of produce, one other of which I will here mention. If any person will visit our grocery stores he, on inquiry, will find that our pickles come from Boston, Baltimore and other cities, thousands of miles from us, at the rate of about fifteen dollars per barrel, when our lands will make at the rate of fifty or seventy five barrels per acre; and the number of barrels consumed in this city would utterly astonish any one not advised on the subject. Where does the money which pays for these things go? Do the persons from whom our merchants purchase spend a solitary dollar in our city for anything that we sell? Don't they go back and purchase their entire supplies from their own citizens? Don't they, even to save hotel bills, send these things to commission merchants? Every bushel of potatoes, corn, onions, turnips, fruit of all kinds, including grapes, strawberries, raspberries, etc., should come to us from this unparaleled country, South and Southeast, or from persons who in turn will order their dry goods and all other things not raised at home from our city. When this trade shall change direction—I may say, seek its proper channels—we may again look for prosperity, in both country and city—may expect to see our landlords of the city employed in driving the bats and owls out of their untenanted houses, and our once beautiful and glorious old South once more asserting her supremacy over any other land on the globe, in whatever she may attempt to produce and supply for either home or foreign consumption.

VIATOR.

[Communicated.]

From Carrollton, Mississippi.

CARROLLTON, MISS., April 18, 1868.

EDITORS AVALANCHE: Here I am in the flourishing town of Carrollton, with a hand full of "nothing to do" and time to spare; so I propose furnishing you with a few "items in brief" for your valuable and out spoken AVALANCHE.

Court is in session here and many cases have been disposed of. Among them a poor man was indicted for hunting on the Sabbath day, to which charge he plead "guilty," but gave as an excuse that on Saturday evening his wife had given birth to four children—three boys and one girl, at one and the same time. He also stated that, if under similar circumstances, being without meat in the smoke house, it should be necessary, he would again take his gun and go in search of game, let it be any day, Sunday or Monday. The Judge Cothran told the Sheriff to discharge the prisoner, giving him authority to shoot on Sunday as often as the same circumstances occurred, and fifty dollars to boot, to support said children.

The crops in this section are exceedingly fine. The corn is from six to ten inches high, and all garden vegetables are in superabundance, and the finest that you ever saw. Business is brisker here than for some time, but that is probably owing to the fact of the late rise in cotton, many of the farmers having retained their cotton in spite of their creditors until this late advance; in consequence, they are able to pay up and have something left for a wet day. Cotton looks well; that is, so much as is above ground. Very little has been planted. The black-and-tan convention now absorbs all the interest in politics in this county. The whites all in mass commend the course of W. L. Hemingway in bolting from such a foul body, and would like to know why the other Representatives do not come out. But none ask why Dr. Stovall does not come out, since all know his vote on the franchise question. He is eternally damned in the eyes of this community by his course, and it is hoped by all that he will return to Kentucky, whence he came.

Court will adjourn next week, when the business will, in all probability, relapse into its old channel.

The Mineral Springs

—AT—

RALEIGH, TENNESSEE

FOR SALE!

THE CELEBRATED RALEIGH MINERAL SPRINGS, situated on the confines of Raleigh, late County Seat of Shelby county, Tennessee, nine miles northeast of Memphis, and two miles from Wells' Station, on the Memphis and Louisville Railroad. These springs are six in number, of various mineral and medicinal qualities, and are visited every Summer by thousands of seekers of health and pleasure, from all quarters of the country. They are within a few steps of the village of Raleigh, in a beautiful valley, and also within a few hundred feet of Wolf river, which winds around the base of the eminence on which the village of Raleigh is situated, and empties into the "Father of Waters" at Memphis. Numerous remarkable cures of various diseases have been experienced by sojourners at this health-inspiring retreat, and the present proprietor, Colonel J. M. COLEMAN, can produce hundreds of certificates of cures in cases which had been entirely given over medical skill. The ground surrounding the Springs, and in fact the entire village of Raleigh, rises to an eminence of pure air, and is as remarkable for its healthfulness as beauty of location. The Springs are in fine order, never failing, and are designated as follows:

MARBLE SPRING.
BOX SPRING.
MAGNOLIA SPRING.
ARSENIC SPRING.
SULPHUR SPRING.
FREESTONE SPRING.

The place has never been visited by epidemic of any kind, and peculiarly characteristic of its healthfulness is the longevity of the inhabitants. The oldest citizens of Shelby county are residents of Raleigh.

The Springs are as much resorted to by pleasure seekers as by invalids, owing to beauty of scenery and various artificial as well as natural attractions. Connected with the Springs are a Pavilion, Ladies' Bowling Alley, Rustic Arbors, Reading saloon, Gents' Bowling Alley, Saloon, Billiard Room, Gymnasiums, Refreshment Tables, etc., while Wolf river affords excellent Boating and Fishing

An analysis of the several Springs, by distinguished medical men, shows that they are unsurpassed in mineral and curative properties by any in the United States. There is no reason then why Raleigh should not become as famous as Saratoga, Sharon or Lebanon, and as largely patronized. It needs only capital and enterprise to accomplish this end.

The elegant country mansion house and lot, residence of Colonel J. M. COLEMAN, is within a few yards of the Springs The house is in first class order, contains ten rooms, and is beautifully embowered in shrubbery The lot is well fenced and ornamented with fine shade and fruit trees, and affords all necessary outhouses, cisterns, etc. It is midway between the village and Spring Valley, on the main promenade.

The FINLEY CHURN DASHER is simple, cheap, popular.
The old Dasher BREAKS or SLASHES the cream to pieces.
The FINLEY DASHER CUTS the cream to pieces.
The old Dasher makes but TWO agitations of the cream at each up and down motion.
The FINLEY DASHER makes from TEN to FIFTEEN agitations at each up and down motion.
The old Dasher CANNOT supply the requisite amount of air
The FINLEY DASHER DOES introduce large and constant supplies of fresh air.
The old Dasher leaves from ONE-FOURTH to ONE-THIRD of the butter in the cream, because it CANNOT remove it.
The FINLEY DASHER takes ALL the butter out of the cream, and therefore ONE-FOURTH to ONE-THIRD more than the old Dasher.
The old Dasher requires the hard work of a HALF to ONE HOUR. The FINLEY DASHER WILL DO THE SAME WORK in from FIVE to FIFTEEN minutes.
The old Dasher consumes TWENTY to TWENTY-SIX HOURS EACH MONTH in churning. The FINLEY DASHER does the same work in LESS THAN FIVE HOURS and with GAIN in QUANTITY of butter sufficient to buy TWO FINLEY DASHERS at three dollars each.
The FINLEY DASHER can be SO EASILY CLEANED—made "bright as a spoon," and WILL RETAIN ITS SWEETNESS so essential to good milk and butter.
The FINLEY DASHER gives to the butter a decidedly firm, "waxy," "grainy" appearance—better for table, with more in the market.
The FINLEY DASHER, in the latter respect, has the advantage over all Crank or Rotary Churns—THEY TAKE THE GRAIN OUT OF THE BUTTER AND LEAVE IT FLAT
The FINLEY DASHER will last a life time if not abused.
The FINLEY DASHER is adapted to "old fashioned churns."
ANY ONE can use the FINLEY DASHER—so simple.
The FINLEY DASHER is being used over the greater portion of Middle and West Tennessee, North and Central Mississippi, Kentucky, Arkansas, Texas, Alabama, Missouri, Kansas, Iowa, Illinois, Ohio and Western New York, with the very greatest satisfaction.
